Brethren, during this Holiday season, the time with family, friends and all loved ones, please have a thought and prayer for those who may not be as fortunate.

Brother Mark Harris, Brother Ken Taylor's son in law, and Gene Rasmussen have been in my prayers lately and could always use more. Thank You.

On the Lodge front, we had a great turnout and put on a great 3rd degree for Brother Frank Burg on 12/9/11. I appreciate all who attended and helped bring our new Master Mason to further light.

We held our stated meeting on the 8th, and I was very happy with the turnout we had and all went well.

I have a little work party planned [mostly for me] but any help would be greatly appreciated, as I am going to install ceiling fans in the Lodge room. Funny how all of a sudden I get to the East and now it's a little warm in the room. Huh.

On another note please say a little prayer for Brother Mark Harris as he was injured in a motorcycle accident and will need some time to adjust to a new lifestyle. Also, another prayer would be nice for WB Gene Rasmussen and his family as their beloved Mother, Jennie Provost, has passed on. We wish them the best in what must be a tough holiday season. We Love You. A memorial will be held on 1/7/12 at 3pm at our Lodge for Gene's Mother and a follow up reception at the American Legion Hall in Stanwood.

And on final note let us try to get a posse together to support VW Brother Steve Doan and his team at his installation on 1/3/12 at Mt. Baker Lodge at 7:30pm.

God bless each and every one of you and have a great New Year.

Dino Conti, Worshipful Master

ORDER OF EASTERN STAR

HAPPY NEW YEAR SISTERS & BROTHERS

We hope everyone had a nice Christmas, even if it wasn't a white one. Stanwood OES had their official visit on December 14th with a dinner beforehand. We had clam chowder and chili along with coleslaw and rolls. Our OV started at 7:30 with a packed lodge room. It was very nice to see the Chapter room so full.

Sister Mary Margaret Haugen, (our state senator) was presented her 50 year pin by Worthy Grand Matron Gloria Schwartz. All of our other 50 year members were introduced along with Stanwood Past Matrons and Past Patrons.

Sisters Ann Taylor, Jennie Kelly, Janice Dorsey and Brother Ken Taylor were given the "Busy Bee Worker" awards from the Worthy Grand Matron and Worthy Grand Patron. Our Chapter performed a fun skit which everyone enjoyed.

On a sadder note, we lost our Sister Jennie Provost who at 100 years of age. She passed away in December. The family would like us to perform an Eastern Star funeral service, which we will do on Sat. January 7th at 3pm. Those Officers who are taking part in the service are requested to be at the lodge at 2pm.

Our next meeting will be held on January 11th.

If you would like to come and need a ride please contact me at 360-629-6502. Thank you.

Worthy Matron, Janice Dorsey Worthy Patron, James Kemp

CHAPLAIN'S WORDS

As a New Year ends another look at Symbols. Yes, they never get old or go away.

This month I call your attention to two powerful symbols we see every time we visit our Lodge room.

I now ask two questions. Why are lodges situated (or ought to be) situated due East and West? Why is the Point within a circle represented in our Lodge room?

The orientation of lodges illustrates the modeling of all Lodges on King Solomon's Temple and alludes to the mighty East wind and the deliverance of his people and parting of the waters. The second examines the point within a circle and its relationship to us, as individuals, to the Craft.

More definitive answers to the questions can be found in our Monitor in the EA Lecture.

As always, you as an individual Mason must assign values to these two symbols: Your own passions, prejudices and interests must be addressed in order to establish your own bounds and prevent materially erring from your values.

As further explanation of the point within the circle, consider this. The point within a circle describes the relationship of the individual Mason with boundaries of conduct which he should observe. The two perpendicular lines represent the two patrons of Masonry, St John the Baptist and St. John, the Evangelist, and further reinforce the arbitrary bounds, mentioned earlier in our daily lives. Note that the presence of the Holy Scriptures further solidifies the individual established bounds.

A final question. What day do we as Masons observe as St. John the Baptist birthday?

The answer can be found in the reference material mentioned earlier.

GREETINGS FROM THE WEST

I was pondering for some time as to what I should convey to my brothers. As my duties in the South were to nourish your bodies, I thought it may be a good time to nourish our minds and souls. Over the recent years, many men, and ladies, of iconic stature, have gone to the Great Architect, There are but few remaining from my father's generation and none that I know of from my grandfather's generation. So in my reading, I came across this article in a Freemason publication that I thought I would share. I would like to introduce you to Brother Ernest Borgnine.

A successful actor on both television and the big screen, Bro. Ernest Borgnine's career has spanned more than six decades. So has his Masonic journey. He was born Ernest Effron Borgnino on Jan. 24, 1917, in Hamden, Conn., to Charles and Anna, who had emigrated from Italy. Growing up, Ernest enjoyed most sports, especially boxing.

After graduation from James Hillhouse High School in New Haven, Conn., Ernie worked a few factory jobs and drove a vegetable truck. At age 18 and undecided about his future career, Borgnine joined the U.S. Navy in 1935. He was honorably discharged in 1941, but re-enlisted when the United States entered World War II and served until 1945 (a total of 10 years), reaching the rank of Gunner's Mate 1st Class. He served aboard the destroyer USS Lambertson (DD-119). His military decorations included the American Campaign Medal, Good Conduct Medal, American Defense Service Medal with Fleet Clasp, and the World War II Victory Medal.

After the war was over, Ernie's mother suggested that his strong personality could make him suitable for a career in acting. With help from the G.I. Bill, he enrolled at the Randall School of Drama in Hartford, Conn. After completing the course, he auditioned and was accepted to Robert Porterfield's famous Barter Theatre in Abingdon, Va., where he stayed for four years. At first he took odd jobs painting scenery, working as a stagehand and driving truck before getting a shot at playing in numerous classics such as "State of the Union" and "The Glass Menagerie." He traveled with the company to entertain the U.S. servicemen in Germany and Denmark. His big break came in 1949, when he made his Broadway debut playing a male nurse in "Harvey."

In 1951, Bro. Ernie (he joined the fraternity in 1950) moved to Los Angeles to pursue a movie career, and made his film debut as Bill Street in "The Whistle at Eaton Falls." Ernie made his TV debut in "Captain Video and His Video Rangers" in 1951. His career took off in 1953 when he was cast in the role of Sgt. "Fatso" Judson in "From Here to Eternity." After numerous supporting roles in a steady string of dramas and westerns, in 1955, Bro. Ernie starred as a warm-hearted butcher in the film version of the television play "Marty." His performance gained him an Academy Award for Best Actor despite strong competition from James Dean, Frank Sinatra and former best actors Spencer Tracy and James Cagney. He also won the British Academy Film Award for best foreign actor, Golden Globe Award for best actor in a motion picture drama, National Board of Review of Motion Pictures Award for best actor and New York Film Critics' Circle Award for best actor. Years later, reflecting on his mere $5,000 salary for playing the lead in "Marty," he said, "... I would have done it for nothing."

Bro. Ernie performed memorably in such films as "The Catered Affair" (1956) and "Emperor of the North" (1973). He is the only actor to star in all four of "The Dirty Dozen" films (1967, 1985, 1987 and 1988). On television, he is best known for playing LCDR Quinton McHale in the popular series "McHale's Navy" from 1962-66. One of his most famous film roles became that of Dutch, a member of "The Wild Bunch" in the 1969 western classic.

In 1984, he co-starred as Dominic Santini in the TV action series "Airwolf," and in 1995, he was cast in the comedy "The Single Guy" as doorman Manny Cordoba. In 1996, he was inducted into the Western Performers Hall of Fame at the National Cowboy and Western Heritage Museum in Oklahoma City, Okla.

His career includes appearances in more than 200 motion pictures, five television series, dozens of made-for-TV movies and guest appearances, as well as voice over's in animated films such as "All Dogs Go to Heaven 2" (1996) and "Small Soldiers" (1998). Since 1999, he has voiced the character Mermaid Man in the animated TV series, "SpongeBob Square Pants," a role which reunited him professionally with good "McHale's Navy" buddy, Tim Conway.

In 2007, Bro. Ernie starred in the Hallmark original movie, "A Grandpa for Christmas." He received a Golden Globe nomination for Best Actor in a Mini-Series or Motion Picture Made for Television for his performance. At 90, he was the oldest Golden Globe nominee ever.

His 2008 autobiography, "Ernie," is a New York Times best seller. In 2009, at age 92, Bro. Ernie starred in the last two episodes of the long-running NBC medical series "ER." His performance garnered his third Emmy nomination for Outstanding Guest Actor in a Drama Series. In August of that year, he received the Lifetime Achievement Award from the Rhode Island International Film Festival at the Providence Screening of his new film, "Another Harvest Moon."

In October 2010, Bro. Ernie appeared as himself in a sketch on "Saturday Night Live" and appeared in his latest movie, "Red," which was filmed earlier that year. Most recently, on Jan. 30, 2011, at the age of 93, he received the Screen Actors Guild's Life Achievement Award given annually to the actor who fosters the "finest ideals of the acting profession" for his career and humanitarian accomplishments.

Bro. Ernie also has been awarded several honorary doctorates from colleges across the United States; a street was named in his honor in his hometown of Hamden, Conn.; there is a Mexican-themed restaurant in New York City with a shrine dedicated in his honor; and he has his own star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame. When not acting, he actively supports numerous charities and speaks tirelessly at benefits throughout the country.

An active Freemason, Bro. Ernie is a 60+-year member of Abington Lodge No. 48, Abington, Va., and is also a member of Hollywood Lodge No. 355, Los Angeles. He said he has always been proud to be a Freemason, and to have been honored with the 33° of the Masonic Order. He has served as the Honorary Chair of the Scottish Rite Ritecare program, which sponsors 175 childhood language disorders clinics, centers and programs nationwide. From 1972-2002, Bro. Ernie marched in Milwaukee's annual Great Circus Parade as the "Grand Clown."

In 1996, he purchased a bus and traveled across the U.S. to see the country and meet his many fans. He also served one year as the Chairman of the National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans, visiting patients in the Department of Veterans Affairs medical centers. Bro. Ernie has volunteered to be the Stories of Service national spokesman, urging his fellow World War II veterans to come forward and share their stories. He still maintains contacts with old shipmates from his Navy destroyer days, and was recognized for his support of the Navy Memorial Fund with the Lone Sailor Award from the Navy Memorial Foundation. In 2000, the Veterans Foundation elected him Veteran of the Year.

On Oct. 15, 2004, Bro. Ernie received the honorary rank of U.S. Navy Chief Petty Officer from Master Chief Petty Officer of the Navy Terry D. Scott-the U.S. Navy's highest ranking enlisted sailor at the time-for Bro. Ernie's support of the Navy and naval families worldwide.

On Feb. 5, 2007, he received California's highest civilian honor, the California Commendation Medal. It was presented to him by Major General William H. Wade II, Adjutant General and Commander of the California National Guard, for a lifetime of exceptionally meritorious service as well as recognizing Bro. Ernie's "heartfelt advocacy on behalf of military personnel and veterans on many fronts, including the California National Guard."

"Regardless of his fame and success, he continues to demonstrate great humility, a heart for charity and a sincere love for the Craft and his fellow man," R.W. Grand Master Thomas K. Sturgeon said in explaining why he honored Bro. Ernie with The Pennsylvania Franklin Medal at the December 2010 Quarterly Communication.

After receiving the award, Bro Ernie, in a hand-written note to Grand Master Sturgeon, said, "I cannot, in simple language, say what is in my heart, to thank you and my Brothers for the honor you bestowed on me. What a tribute, and what a moment that was, with all the super Brothers from different parts of the world! ... I shall always try to live up to the great standards it represents! Sure was a great moment for me, and I thank you again for being such a great Mason and Brother."

Bro. Ernie has been married to Tova Traesnaes since Feb. 24, 1973. Tova is QVC's on-camera spokesperson for her own Tova Cosmetics line. The couple resides in the same Beverly Hills home that he bought in 1965. Despite his accomplishments and advanced years, Bro. Ernie has no intention of slowing down anytime soon.
